

TICR Teaching Awards

The TICR Program Teaching Awards are given annually to honor one TICR faculty member and one TICR scholar, who served as a teaching assistant during the past year. These awards recognize outstanding teaching in the TICR Program.

Eligibility

Nominators: Current scholars in the Advanced Training in Clinical Research (ATCR) Certificate and Master's in Clinical Research Degree Programs are eligible to make nominations for these awards.

Nominees:

1. Faculty members who either lecture, direct small group sections, or provide mentoring in the TICR Program are eligible to receive the TICR faculty teaching award; and
2. TICR scholars who serve as teaching assistants in one of the TICR courses are eligible to receive the TICR teaching assistant award.

The awards are presented during the reception for graduates of the Master's in Clinical Research Degree Program held at the end of each academic year.

TICR Teaching Awards Recipients

Year	Faculty Award	Teaching Assistant Award
2007	Dave Glidden, PhD	Beth Cohen MD, MAS

Jeff Martin with Dave Glidden, 2007
Teaching Award recipient

Jeff Martin with Beth Cohen, 2007
Teaching Assistant Award recipient